

Art News

Frieze Week London, Satellite Art Fairs, Guide, 2014

Frieze Week And Alternative Satellite Art Fair Guide 2014

09-10-2014

Tweet Share Like 6 Share

Artlyst is excited to announce the release of their essential, online, Frieze week alternative satellite art fair guide, for London 2014. The main fair and collateral offspring launch the week of 12 October, with the main fair opening to the public on the 15th October. Each year our capital is over-run with the international art crowd, who flock to this once a year cultural phenomenon. Frieze and Frieze Masters promises to showcase an up to date overview of the current art market allowing art lovers to pay homage to the best (and some of the worst) in visual art. Like Art Basel and Art Basel Miami these fairs make no bones about being massive art trade shows. The galleries involved are there to sell and this year the main Frieze fair showcases 160 of the worlds leading contemporary art galleries. What ever you do don't miss the smaller art fairs and events that are springing up like dandelions all around the capital next week.

New for 2014 is a restructuring of the sections at Frieze for participating galleries. Also the organisers are introducing 'Live', a showcase for performance-based installations dispersed throughout the fair. Frieze can be a fantastic place to discover new and challenging artists, whether you are a serious collector or searching to enrich your knowledge about the established and the emerging. This is a one-stop destination. As well as the endless parties, satellite fairs, exhibitions and solo shows, there is actually a huge amount of quality content to wash down with your Prosecco. (Top Photo: Frank Piazza © Artlyst 2014)

We will be updating this page all week, so pop back again for more listings!

Download The Free Artlyst Art Guide Here with all the maps needed to navigate your Frieze week!

download app now!

NEW COMMISSION BY ANGELA BULLOCH FOR ROLLS-ROYCE MOTOR CARS

ROLLS-ROYCE MOTOR CARS LONDON, BERKELEY SQUARE | 9 – 23 OCTOBER 2014

Rolls-Royce Motor Cars will present a new installation by Turner Prize nominee and renowned artist Angela Bulloch in their showroom on Berkeley Square in London to coincide with Frieze Week 2014. Bulloch, who is a member of the 'Freeze' generation of Young British Artists, will present a new commission, taking the form of a 'Pixel Box' installation that will mimic the properties of a Rolls-Royce car.

YOSHITOMO NARA: GREETINGS FROM A PLACE IN MY HEART

DAIRY ART CENTRE | 3 OCTOBER – 7 DECEMBER 2014

Dairy Art Centre presents Yoshitomo Nara's largest UK exhibition to date. Comprising recent and previously unreleased works, the exhibition will feature paintings, bronze sculptures, and a retrospective of Nara's drawings spanning 30 years. One of the most renowned Japanese contemporary, Nara is best known for his paintings of children and animals sporting fiendish expressions and provocative stances. The show will then travel to Arken in Denmark in October 2015.

Young Masters

125 Kensington Church St W87LB 14-30 October

The Young Masters Art Prize celebrates contemporary artists from all over the globe who pay homage to the skill and traditions of the past.

Dirty Laundry (Part 1)

A selection of London's best emerging artists

THE LIBRARY CLUB PV Thurs 16 October visit club website for details
112, LIBRARY, ST. MARTINS LANE, LONDON, WC2N 4BD

Paradigm Store HS Projects

5 Howick Place, London, SW1 1BH

HS Projects is transforming an empty office building into a massive exhibition space, spread across five floors and over 80,000 sq ft of Howick Place in Victoria, to explore the interface between art and design through the work of 17 emerging and established artists. Paradigm Stores features immersive site-specific installations, large-scale sculptures, paintings, video work and performance – all examining issues of the decorative and functional with reference to the architecture of the space.